

The American Saddlebred Horse Association of Alberta strives to foster good sportsmanship, a healthy lifestyle, and a sense of responsibility in all age groups through involvement in the care, training and breeding of the American Saddlebred Horse for both recreation and participation in all disciplines in the sport of horse.

From the President

The American Saddlebred Horse Association (ASHA) of Alberta has been serving its members and enthusiasts of the Saddlebred industry for over 50 years. All involved have been successfully breeding, showing, pleasure riding, and driving their American Saddlebreds. While Saddlebreds live up to their nickname, the “peacocks of the show ring”, they are, more importantly, valued family members back at home. Their intelligence, versatility, and loving nature make them a wonderful choice for family members to enjoy across generations.

Working together we can:

- promote the healthy lifestyle that comes from having these wonderful horses in our lives. Interactions with our equines and community provide physical, emotional, and psychological benefits that enrich our overall wellbeing.
- contribute to a thriving Alberta equine industry that will have ripple effects on many aspects of the economy as well. Our members buy feed and equipment; require veterinarians and farriers; stay in hotels and buy meals when out of town at horse shows; employ folks of all ages and levels of experience to work in our stables.
- facilitate a deep sense of community and belonging. Some of our members have been involved for four generations – a lifetime of friendships and support networks! We are keen to welcome new members, young and old, into our community.

I urge you to consider partnering with us as we seek to serve and promote the membership and horses of the American Saddlebred Horse Association of Alberta.

Paul Bentham, President, ASHA of Alberta

American Saddlebred Horse Association of Alberta:

- has served its members and the horse community for 50+ years, incorporated in 1971
- a charter club of the American Saddlebred Horse and Breeders Association (ASHBA), a network 45+ organizations worldwide, for 50+ years.
- has been the ASHBA Charter Club of the Year.
- supports not only our own Alberta Charity Horse Show, but six other Alberta all-breed horseshows, as well!

The members of the American Saddlebred Horse Association of Alberta are:

- horse owners,
- horse enthusiasts,
- amateurs and trainers recognized for yearly competition at the provincial and national level having been awarded Breed Sport Canada Awards from Equestrian Canada and numerous awards within the Region 2 ASHBA award system (Alberta, British Columbia, Washington, Oregon, and Montana),
- competitors leading in their sport, competing in the International World Cup Saddleseat competitions and representing Canada’s World Cup Equitation team, &
- trainers, coaches, and all-round Saddlebred loving members who are proud of the talent and quality of our horses and riders.

Your contributions allow the American Saddlebred Horse Association of Alberta:

- Support our Youth Initiative; promoting volunteerism and scholarship opportunity.
- host the Association’s Alberta Charity Horse Show and support shows offering classes specifically for American Saddlebreds (Spring Fling, Parkland Spring, Aurora, Summer Classic, Alberta Morgan, and the Fall Classic).
- In-kind sponsors have provided exhibitors with a morning coffee and socials at which to gather and reconnect and items for our exhibitor draw jars that have added much fun to their showing experience and are greatly appreciated by the winners.
- Monetary sponsors, through class or general show contributions, have offset show costs and provided judges helping to assure the showing experience is accessible to more riders.
- Promote American Saddlebreds through riding clinics and local events featuring American Saddlebreds to assure American Saddlebreds are seen.
- Communicate with members through newsletters and social media.
- Operate. It is no surprise that there are organization running costs. ASHA of Alberta maintains memberships with the Alberta Equestrian Federation (AEF) and the American Saddlebred Horse and Breeders Association (ASHBA), carries insurance, and office costs, albeit minimal. General sponsorship contributions are utilized for these purposes.

Joining together, we both gain:

- Association members include many local business owners and community advocates that will recognize and appreciate your support.
- Horsemanship, volunteering and competition encourages responsibility, confidence, pride, patience, athleticism, balance and sportsmanship in our youth.
- Horse shows are a “family affair” providing wonderful opportunities for families to spend time together.
- Riding has a positive impact on mental health. Malchrowicz-Moško et al. (2020) found of the benefits of riding, the mental, rather than physical, aspects were highest rated.

Opportunities Work with the American Saddlebred Association of Alberta
